

Grace Huang President of Cox Automotive Inventory Solutions

Grace Huang is president of Cox Automotive's Inventory Solutions group, which includes Manheim, the nation's largest wholesale vehicle marketplace inclusive of 80+ physical locations, a suite of digital solutions and vehicle services, and Central Dispatch, the industry's largest automotive logistics marketplace.

A leader who has played an instrumental role in reshaping wholesale vehicle remarketing, Huang is evolving the Manheim Marketplace into a seamless experience across physical and digital platforms, giving clients greater confidence on both sides of the transaction. She's driving AI throughout the business, fueling people, processes and tools across every touchpoint, to help clients compete and profit more effectively. Huang is also leading Cox Automotive's massive investment to support the growing influx of used EVs into wholesale — driving the digital and physical operational changes needed to remarket these vehicles at scale.

Huang's industry honors and leadership recognitions are numerous. They include Northwood University's "2022 Distinguished Women Award," Automotive News' 2021 "All-Star" in Remarketing" and "Notable Champion of Diversity," Automotive News' "100 Leading Women in the North American Auto Industry" in 2020 and again in 2025, a 2019 profile in Auto Remarketing's "Power 300" edition, a "Women who Mean Business" in 2019 by the Atlanta Business Chronicle, inclusion in Profiles in Diversity Journal's 2018 Women Worth Watching," and Auto Remarketing's "Women in Remarketing" in 2017.

Huang's leadership also extends to volunteering her time and talent to support the community and industry. She currently serves on the Board of Directors of Goodwill of North Georgia, which provides free career coaching, job training and employment placement services across 45 counties in North Georgia, and formerly chaired the Atlanta Ronald McDonald House Charities board, where she launched the capital campaign and planning of a new Atlanta Ronald McDonald House.
